Coevality: GLOBAL ETHICS IN A TIME
OF TOTAL CHANGE

A SPRING-FALL 2016 SPEAKER SERIES

* ALL LECTURES ARE FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC *

Does the Framework Convention on Climate Change, affirmed by 195 nations in Paris on December 12, 2015, signal a turning point in our ability to work in the common interests of all sentient beings and of the worlds in which we live? In our closely connected, yet highly differentiated, rapidly expanding yet deeply inequitable, politically divided global (dis)order, can this spirit of coevality prevail?

The Coevality Project takes the form of a graduate seminar and a series of public lectures and symposia to be offered this semester and this Fall (2016) by Terry Smith (Global Studies Faculty Fellow, U of Pittsburgh) and distinguished visitors, including contemporary art historian TJ Demos (Center for Creative Ecologies, UC Santa Cruz), literary theorists Amy Elias (U of Tennessee) and Christian Moraru (U of North Carolina), and philosopher Peter Singer (Princeton).
